

EVA ROETS

PROFILE

I started off my professional career in customer support, communication and digital marketing, mainly for SMEs in the tech industry. Hundreds of interviews with tech and IT experts from all over the world eventually rubbed off on me, leaving me to experiment with multiple CMS frameworks, graphic design, programming languages.

After going on the exciting adventure of travelling the world - yes, I'm one of those cliché millennials - I mustered up the courage to learning the ropes of web development, particularly specializing in front-end development.
